

WHAT WE CAUGHT ON OUR OWN PLATFORM

THE MODEL CAN ARGUE PERFECTLY AND NEVER MAKE AN OFFER.

Nine turns against an AI counterparty.

A sealed transcript. Zero offers.

TACTIK AI

THE EVIDENCE

NINE TURNS. ZERO OFFERS.

Opened by restating my position, then attacking it

9 of 9

Named a price, a volume, a date or a term

0 of 9

It knew the regulation. It knew the commercial pressure.

It pushed back on every point.

Fluent. Well-informed. Impossible to negotiate with.

Sealed transcript • 18 messages

WHY IT MATTERS

NO OFFER, NOTHING TO SCORE.

- 1 No offer on the table
- 2 No concession to measure
- 3 No anchor to defend
- 4 No score — only a debate

A rehearsal you cannot score is not a rehearsal.
It is an argument with good grammar.

THE PRINCIPLE

A MODEL CANNOT HIDE A LIMIT FROM ITSELF.

Whatever it knows about its own walk-away point, it knows in the same place it speaks from. So under pressure it gives the limit away — or it behaves as if it has none.

OUR RULE

THE MODEL THAT SPEAKS
NEVER HOLDS THE LIMITS.

TACTIK AI

THE CORRECTION, MEASURED

0 of 6 → 5 of 6

turns putting a real term on the table,
before and after the fix, in a second engine

AN ARGUMENT IS NOT AN OFFER.
THAT HOLDS FOR MACHINES TOO.

Simulation finding, not a forecast.